WA Club. I hope that next year we will be able to let members and guests remain in the Dining Room after breakfast to finish off the Rum and Coffee. Frank Taylor the Guest Speaker was most interesting and hopefully we can get Frank for Guest Speaker at a Luncheon at some future date.

The breakfast is also a fertile recruiting zone and we hope to be able to gain some new members and hopefully, some transfers to Highgate from other sub-branches.

It was great to see Mick Michaels and Alan Saville at the Gunfire and hope to see them back in our midst for Lunches in the near future.

CEREMONY AT HIGHGATE COTTAGE HOMES FOR THE AGED

On 24 April I conducted an ANZAC theme ceremony for the residents of Highgate Cottage Homes For The Aged. This ceremony has been conducted at the Homes for the last 16 years and is very much appreciated by the residents. The residents are very elderly and consist mostly of ladies, who honour their late loved ones by wearing their loved ones medals and the laying of a wreath at the base of the Homes flag pole.

Reveille. I placed a wreath, purchased by Highgate RSL, at the base of the flag pole. The card simply states "Lest We Forget from the President and Members of Highgate RSL"

Jim Eayrs

About 30 residents attended. The ceremony consists of a rendition of the poem "Our Australian Flag", The Lords Prayer, laying of wreaths, Last Post, the Ode and then Another most worthy project undertaken by a Member of Highgate RSL Sub-Branch.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA'S VINEYARD AREAS — OUR "BORDEAUX'S"?

(With thanks to John Keenan, Ordre des Coleaux de Champagne)

Known around the world now as a result in part of Margaret River's popularity, Western Australia produces only 3 per cent of the grapes crushed in Australia.

The reason for the international recognition is that most of these grapes are used for the production of premium wines.

Our first vineyards were established in 1829 but it is an argument as to who was the first to plant them, Captain John Septimus Roe, or Thomas Waters. It is for sure that the first vineyard producing grapes for winemaking was Waters' Olive Farm vineyard at the beginning of the Swan Valley. Waters was bartering wine according to records in the 1840's. It is still there at the gateway to the Valley and still worth a visit.

One of the biggest and best known vineyards came about because of a grant King William IV made to Henry Revett Bland in 1835. This was for 3000 hectares (about 7400 acres) of land in the Swan Valley. Bland sold the land to a group of three British Army officers, Lowis, Yule, and Houghton, who were stationed in India.

As senior officer, Colonel Houghton sent Yule to Western Australia to manage the property, which became the first commercial winery in the State. All that fame which followed for the Houghton Winery was without Colonel Houghton ever setting foot in the country!

The Swan Valley was the first wine producing district to be established, and for many years was the only one. It produced everything from "sherry" to "Riesling" and almost everything in between, mainly by experienced European immigrants. It was many years before newer areas emerged as a result of a great deal of research into climatic conditions.

Mount Barker was the first, and I remember in 1975 trying the experimental wines coming out of trial plots of vines established on the Pearses' property "Forest Hill", by our local Department of Agriculture. The most well known and first commercial vineyard planted there was Plantagenet vineyard, established in 1968 by Tony Smith.

The next area was the Frankland, the most well known vineyard being Alkoomi, established in 1971, and lastly, the most internationally recognized, Margaret River. Vasse Felix was the first established there, in 1967, by Dr. Tom Cullity but it was a few years until more vineyards were planted and the area really established.

As a result of long and drawn out negotiations in Europe, on behalf of the European Union, there is now a strict control on what vineyard areas can call themselves. For instance France can't call any of its districts "Margaret River" but neither can Australian districts claim to produce "champagne", or "burgundy".

The areas are now known as "geographic indicators", or GI's and Western Australia's are: Swan District; Perth Hills; Peel; Margaret River; Geographe; Blackwood Valley; Pemberton; Manjimup; Frankland River; and Great Southern.

Better known vineyards worth chasing up in only one of these areas, the best known one of Margaret River, are also great for lunch, with recognized quality restaurants. They include Brookland Valley; Vasse Felix; Clairault; Cullens; Xanadu; Leeuwin Estate; Voyager; and Watershed.

Locations of these, and all the other now famous vineyards around the State are available from the local and Perth Tourist Bureaus.

Get out and visit them all, and at the same time get to see more of our great State.

Happy motoring and safe and responsible drinking.

With all the new technology regarding fertility, a 69 year-old woman was able to give birth to a baby recently.

When she was discharged from the hospital and went home, her relatives came to visit.

"May we see the new baby?" one asked.

"Not yet," said the mother. "I'll make coffee and we can chat for a while first."

Thirty minutes had passed, and another relative asked, "May we see the new baby now?"

"No, not yet," said the mother.

After another few minutes had elapsed, they asked again, "May we see the baby now?"

"No, not yet," replied the mother.

Growing very impatient, they asked, "Well, when can we see the baby?"

"When she cries!" she told them.

"WHEN SHE CRIES?" they demanded. "Why do we have to wait until she cries?"

"Because.. I've forgotten where I put her."
